Learning Disability and Autism Liaison Nurses at Southmead hospital

We are a team of Learning Disability Nurses in Southmead Hospital.

We can help you understand the plan for your health care.
We can make sure that you are listened to.

You must have a diagnosis of learning disability or autism to get help from our team.

We can help you if you are scared of hospitals or medical procedures.

We can support you if you are admitted to hospital.

We can support you with an appointment or procedure.

We can talk to your:

- family's and carers
- community learning disability team (CLDT)
- care providers
- health and social care team (e.g. your GP or social worker)

We can change things in hospital to make them easier for you.
These are called reasonable adjustments.

We provide hospital passports so that hospital staff know how to support you.
